CAPABILITY STATEMENT

At Northrop Grumman’s office headquartered in Colorado Springs, we conducted a highly successful new construction final clean; which included over 360 panes of glass. This office building has high visibility since it is located very near the Colorado Springs Airport and contains over 150,000 square feet.

Over the past several years, SQUEAK-N-CLEAN had successfully fulfilled many contracts on the Fort Carson Military Base. One of which is hugely recognized as an achievement in which we are proud to have been a part of. Teaming up with Balfour Beatty, we created a cleaning plan to include daily tasks and meeting timelines that had been unprecedented. It stands as an example of the high oath in which a company takes in monumental success year after year until complete.

At the Flying Horse Resort, there were over 80,000 of square feet of flooring that required special cleaning techniques to be used on the several variations of flooring to include: hard wood, rubber, cork, stone, laminate and tile. The resort is a superb development in the Colorado Springs area and every cleaning detail was created with a strong sense of textile and uniqueness. Our work was highly regarded and we were subsequently hired to complete post-construction and maintenance cleaning on a daily basis.

All cleaning is tailored to the specific demands of the cleaning requirements. Excellent references will be provided with every proposal.
